

America Belongs to Us
by Oliver Mayer

America belongs to us Every day we make it ours
Sweat and skin (Sudor y piel)
The tax we pay
Midnight tears (Lágrimas)
The mortgage due

We form a human bridge (un puente humano) across The scar that separates us (a traves de la cicatriz)

Each time (Cada vez) we cross the Wall
Comes down (un poco más) a little more
Each year (Cada año) our roots extend
A little more on either side (un poco más)

Wherever we were born (Donde nacimos)
Wherever we have been (Donde vivimos)

Leaving love behind
We find new love
Leaving roots behind
We grow new shoots

Our family tree grows down
And up (arriba y abajo), un-bordered, free

Until, no longer foreigners,
We call home here
No longer immigrants
We make this ours

Do not forget our history (no debemos olvidar nuestra historia)
Do not forget our mystery (no debemos olvidar nuestro misterio)

America is more than walls
America is more than scars
America's a living thing
America belongs to all of us
